Take a Reading Road Trip!

Bracket Winners!

Our annual study of bracket reading, which is—believe it or not—a library skill that actually appears on Iowa tests, resulted in the following students earning a free lunch next Monday, April 28:

Gr. 5: R. Richardson

Gr. 6: R. Rippetoe

Gr. 7/8 Girls: A. Rohling

Gr. 7/8 Boys: W. Rutledge

Congratulations, and remember: don't order lunch for Monday!

Ozzie Reading Program Success

Congratulations to all our students who participated in the Nashville Sounds Ozzie Reading Program. These students documented their reading time over an eight week period, turned in their forms, and earned a free ticket to see the Sounds on May 2 at 7:00 pm, along with other prizes along the way. Please check for your name below: I sent ticket requests to the Sounds for the following families, so check to make sure your name is listed if you believe you sent in an order form:

Bruck, Christian, Delevante, Denton, Drury, Espejo, Eubanks, Feely, Heller, Hutto, Krenson, LePore, May, McGauran, Peatman, Remke, Robinson, Roche, Smith, Staed, Thompson, Vincent, and Howe.

The Nashville Sounds should be sending your tickets directly to your house. Hopefully, our seats will be together. Please remember that the line begins forming one hour prior to game time for the pre-game parade!

Dr. Seuss Week = Fun Learning!

While all nine classes have special integrated lessons planned to combine regular curriculum instruction with Seuss books and activities, we are celebrating the week in the library with one of the Doctor's more famous stories. Green Eggs and Ham will be read in all nine library classes, and then we will make green eggs to have with ham and bagels. We do this every year in kindergarten, with many of the students remembering and requesting that they all get to make green eggs again. What better way to celebrate the nonsensical rhyme that is the basis for all of Dr. Seuss' success than to have everyone help make green eggs?
