Another Wonderful Book Fair!

The Book Fair sponsored by our library was successful in many ways. While the final total has yet to be verified, preliminary figures show that we have met our goal of $4200 worth of sales. The library gets to keep 30% of that in cash profit, and we were allowed to keep 10% of sales in actual books from the fair for the library. I admit the additional funding for the library is a major reason for the fairs, however the main reason we do this twice each year is that the students get so excited about the fair. To see children eagerly anticipate an event that centers around books certainly does our hearts good! It helps us realize that our attempt to pass on a love for learning—both by the school and by families at home—is successful. Thank you to all who helped with the fair; Debbie Weber co-chaired, and L. Snyder, L. Bennett, C. Bennett, M. Weber, J. Foreman, N. Krause, K. Rohling, J. Pogue, J. May, R. Neligan, G. Lannom, K. Bruck, O. Bruck, L. Lannom, J. Neligan, and M. Graham were a big help in running the event. Thanks to sixth graders A. Carvalho, C. Kim, E. Frank, and M. Blaufuss for making the decorations! It takes a village to run a book fair, and I appreciate the willingness of so many to give of their time.
